Central Texas Hospitalists partner with Lakeway Regional Medical Center

Lakeway, TX (April 26, 2013) – As of April 15th 2013, Lakeway Regional Medical Center has partnered with a new hospitalist group to enhance care for patients in the Hill Country. Hospitalist programs are part of a national trend in which a physician is solely dedicated to caring for patients who are admitted to the hospital for any length of time. By partnering with a hospitalist, local providers can focus on their outpatient practice, which should lead to more timely appointments in their offices.

The physicians who make up Central Texas Hospitalists include Drs. Quan Dang, Dr. Louis Lux, Dr. Brian Butler, Dr. Michael Katherine Jones, Dr. John Salas, and Dr. Paulgun Sulur.

These board-certified internal medicine physicians are on duty at Lakeway Regional Medical Center seven days a week, 24 hours a day to provide admitted patients ongoing and immediate care. Available at any hour of the day, a hospitalist becomes a center point for communication so the patient, family, primary care physician and specialists are well-informed. This expedites the treatment process and ensures that patients get immediate attention.
